LIVING or EXISTING?

Where there is cheerfulness and beauty, one really enjoys living. Dull, drab walls are depressing

THE importance of color in the home is well established, and its influence upon our health and happiness is universally recognized. With this knowledge comes the realization that it is possible to make even the simplest home a harmonious blend of color, life and interest.

Take the three primary colors—yellow, red, blue—and the secondary colors resulting from their combination —green, orange, purple—and you will find that each of them has a very definite association.

Yellow is suggestive of sunshine and happiness, and consequently is a good decorative color. It is a dispeller of depression and gloom, and is ideal for use in rooms that face the north, as it adds a note of warmth and cheer. Blue accessories in room such as a blue-toned picture, table runner, or vase, add necessary strength by complementary color. If you use deep yellow or orange the complementary color must be purple to be effective.

Red is the color of excitement, stimulation and violence. Nature has used pure red sparingly and we get it in settings of green, which is its complementary color. In decoration we find red used in accents of color rather than in solid effects.

Blue is one of the most popular, if not the most popular color in the spectrum, and is also the coldest and most spiritual of colors. It is an excellent foil for the other shades of warm color. Combined with touches of yellow or red, it takes on charm, life and vitality.

Exposures

If the room faces the north, it is a cold room. If south, it is a warm room. If east or west, it is warm part of the time and cold during the remainder. Select your papers for the north room in warm tones—for the south room, where there is plenty of sunshine, use colors that are cool.

Green is Nature's great color. Cheerful and agreeable it still has the cooling, restraining qualities of the blue from which it is derived. When used wisely, green is of wonderful value in the home as it is very restful to the eye.

Orange is the jazz color of the spectrum, and is derived from red and yellow, taking on some of the vigor and heat of the red, but is still cheery and light as the yellow. To be used in quantity, it must be toned down or "grayed" to a tan or leather shade. Dark blue and purple are the colors to use in an orange room to lend the greatest beauty.

Purple is a mystic, subtle color—symbolic of the religious rites of old and the royal purple of kings and emperors. Purple has dignity but it also has gloom. Variants of purple, such as mauve, lilac or violet, are lovely when correctly combined with other colors.

However, personal taste is the chief consideration. You are the one to determine for yourself the fitness of things you buy. Personal taste dominates in the selection of your gowns, so it will in selecting your wallpaper.

What is of utmost importance is that your home be kept looking well; and that can be done inexpensively by using Niagara papers; with the assurance that what appeals to you will be right.

BLOSSOMS

(722 B.)

YOU need look no further for paper for that room with sloping ceiling and low walls. A well-covered paper of this type can be used on walls and ceiling alike, if you so desire, and gives a perfect bower effect to room.

With so little plain ground showing, this is sure to be a most serviceable paper, and will be particularly good where walls are a little rough and uneven.

Plain white ruffled curtains give a lovely cool effect with a floral paper like this, while plain pink bedspread and cushions add still more color and interest.

There is a pretty border for this sidewall.

THE IVY

(725 C.)

THE "Ivy" is a most adaptable paper and can be used to good advantage in small Dining Room, Hall or Upstairs Sitting Room.

Equally good in Boy's Bed Room.

Full of sprightly color, and well balanced as to design, it is further enhanced by the veil-like overprint which softens the colors in the paper.

Papers of this character are at their best with wicker furniture, having plain cushions of one of the colors in the paper. Plain drapery is also suggested.

You will like the border designed and colored to match this sidewall.

THE ARDEN

(726 B.)

FOR Kitchen or Lavatory you cannot make a better selection than the "Arden."

The housewife will enjoy the fresh coolness of the coloring and the all-over design of the "Arden," thus avoiding the tiresome repetition of the old-time block once seen on every Kitchen.

This paper will be serviceable and will clean well. It will be particularly good for rough walls. The border adds completeness to the paper.

THE CHINTZ ROSE

IT is but seldom that one finds a Bed Room paper with this satisfactory and unusual combination of coloring.

The "Chintz Rose" will be a durable wall hanging and will clean well. The design is well drawn and the whole effect is fresh and lovely. You will not readily tire of this paper.

With ivory-toned ruffled curtains and the effective touches of blue and orange that can be supplied in the other furnishings of the room, it is not difficult to imagine a most enchanting Bed Room, and at a small outlay in money.

The border is pretty and in keeping with the sidewall.

TILES AND FLOWERS

COLOR has invaded the Kitchen, and the housewife no longer selects papers simply for their wearing qualities alone.

Kitchen and Breakfast Nook can be just as colorful and attractive as the other rooms in the house. Painted blue or white woodwork, curtains in one of these pretty, bright shades—and what could be more inviting?

The well-covered, all-over effect in background of paper insures its durability. This paper can also be used to good advantage in Lavatory and Bathroom.

There is a pretty border for "Tiles and Flowers."

SYLVAN GLADE

(747 B.)

THE "Sylvan Glade" is a delightful paper with pleasing coloring of soft velvety hue, and foliage design.

Of more than ordinary interest, yet it is unobtrusive and restful. This paper is typically colonial, although it is used quite generally in Living and Dining Rooms and Hall as well as Sun Room.

Papers of this character are inspired by the tapestries of old and make excellent wall hangings where few pictures are to be used.

Plain draperies of some of the lovely colors in paper will add the correct touch to a room. There's an attractive border to harmonize.

BROCADE BLEND

IN Living Room and Hall the "Brocade Blend" will be particularly satisfying and must be seen on the wall to be appreciated at its full worth.

It is quiet, beautifully toned and blended and invites your attention.

The rich design of brocaded effect, the veil-like overprint and lovely blends of color all combine to create a wall covering of much beauty.

Pictures can be used on this interesting background. Ivory-toned gauze glass curtains and mulberry over-draperies will add interest and color.

The band border will please you.

MARY ELIZABETH

WHAT a pleasant, airy room one would have with this pretty paper on the walls. The graceful open design and fresh lovely coloring are full of inviting charm.

There is the feeling of space in the open design, and used on a small room would make it appear much larger.

The "Mary Elizabeth" is further enhanced by the silver stripe which reflects light, and the gray tracery of vine and flowers in the background. There is also an effective touch of gold in the heart of the multicolored blossoms.

The colors of blue and pink can be used in rug, drapery and pillows in a most effective way.

There is a pleasing border to match this paper.

THE CARLYLE

THE "Carlyle" fairly radiates cheerfulness and can be used very effectively on Living Room, Dining Room and Hall.

This paper would be a splendid choice for a homey, cheerful Living Room. It is particularly good for a north exposure where sunny coloring is necessary. We find here beauty of design and an interesting arrangement of color.

Figured papers usually call for plain drapery, and this could be a golden-brown or one of the other colors in the paper.

The border designed and colored for this sidewall is a very harmonious one.

PERIWINKLE

THERE is a quaint old-time charm in this attractive Bed Room paper, with a decided modern touch shown in its vivid, fresh coloring. A paper of this type is at its best with old-fashioned furniture, although it is equally lovely with the painted furniture so popular at the present time. Some of the sprays in the paper could be used on painted furniture as decorations.

The multicoloring of the flowers gives an opportunity to use any one or several of these snappy colors in your curtains, rugs, etc., and it will depend upon whether you need the green or blue for a cool effect or the warmer rose or orange tones.

CHARMANT

(769 A.)

MODERNIZE your walls with smart new wall papers. This very attractive moderne paper in delightfully modified form, and beautifully colored, was designed in Paris by the celebrated French designers—Gaudioz and Fauser.

On Dining Room and Hall this modern wall hanging will lend a subtle decorative charm of line and color and a modern touch truly delightful to the eye, at oh, so moderate a cost!

Interesting wall paper of distinct character and lovely coloring is necessary for both Dining Room and Hall, as the walls are void of pictures and other little accessories found in Living Room, that add color and interest.

Can't you just see the "Charmant" on your walls, with draperies and rugs picking up some of the brilliant colors in this paper?

NASTURTIUM

WHAT bright, happy coloring we find in this lovely Bed Room paper. It is particularly suitable for a north exposure, with its warm ivory background, and sunny colors that are a welcome in themselves.

Can't you just see this paper on the walls of that room that has never seemed to get enough sunlight? Using for windows, crisp cream dimity curtains, with valance and tie-backs of yellow, plain yellow bedspread, and placing in your most comfortable chair a plump pillow of the lovely deep burnt-orange tone that appears in the paper.

Such a pleasing effect at small cost. The border designed and colored to match this sidewall, adds additional charm.

VAN DYCK

QUALITY and distinction are outstanding in this most desirable wall hanging, suitable for Living and Dining Rooms, Library and Hall.

The design is well-balanced, interesting and free in movement, while the heavy embossing imparts richness to the texture of the paper and a velvety softness to the harmonious coloring. Clever touches of gold in outline effect further enhance the "Van Dyck."

You may be your own interior decorator, for with cream gauze glass curtains, mulberry silk over-draperies, old-blue and mulberry upholstery, and golden-hued lamp shades all bringing out the lovely coloring in the paper—what could be more effective?

There is a most satisfying border for this sidewall, too.

MAYTIME

ONE of our choicest floral papers, with its airy tendrils and beautifully drawn flowers in softest pastel tints, against a background of plain, clear ivory color. A moderne touch is shown in the lattice in the background.

This graceful spreading design has size and dignity suitable for the large room, yet the pastel tints make it ideal for the smaller room as well.

The embossed effect in background, the satiny texture, and clever touch of gold add beauty and effectiveness to this charming paper. Ivory net glass curtains, and soft rose silk hangings will emphasize the lovely coloring here shown.

An added charm is the attractive band border designed and colored for this paper.

TO DETERMINE the correct amount of paper needed for any room, take the maximum floor measurement of the room and locate the room size on the chart which corresponds the closest to your measurements. Then, from the number of rolls indicated, deduct two rolls for every four doors, windows or other openings. The result will be the number of rolls of sidewall required. The corresponding quantities of both border and ceiling will be found in the last two columns of the chart.

Be sure to order enough paper. It is always a good idea to have a little paper left over, because your walls may become soiled in some way, and it is very easy to patch with the spare paper you may have.

If your room is not exactly one of the sizes shown in chart, order according to the next larger size shown.

Whenever possible, have a good paperhanger do your work, as the most beautiful of decorations can be spoiled by improper hanging.

Use the best wall papers. The labor charge for applying durable, beautiful and artistic paper is little, if any, greater than the cost of papering with a cheap, flimsy and often inartistic paper, and the difference in the appearance of the room will more than repay you for the few dollars difference in cost.

You would not hang a picture without framing—do not hang wall papers without borders. They add a finishing touch, and interesting color.
